CONSTRUCT NEW ADDITION, SCHUTTE AND KOERTING CO.

To Move Manufacturing
Facilities from Phila.
Plant to Cornwells

OPEN HOUSE PLANNED

Structure of Brick and Steel to Measure 80 by 200 Feet

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, May 29—Construction is underway at Schutte & Koerting plant, here, for a new addition. The building will be 80x200 feet, and will adjoin the section built in 1946. The structure is to be of brick and steel. George K. Heehner, Inc., Philadelphia, is the contracting firm.

According to U. W. Fischer, vice president of the company, "The object of the new building is to move all the manufacturing facilities from the 12th & Thompson streets plant, Phila., to the Cornwells Heights plant. The main reason for the move is to reduce operating costs. Having our shops combined will improve the quality, and make the shifting of loads more flexible."

The date for the move to Cornwells Heights has been set for the two weeks period, August 14th to August 25th.

The management hopes that the facilities which are now being planned for the office force will be built before the end of this year. The combined number of employees of the two plants is 230.

The local company originated in 1876 when Dr. Ernest Koerting patented the first double tube injector. He formed a partnership with Louis Schutte. A building was rented at 10th and Columbia avenues, Phila., where injectors and small jets were manufactured. In subsequent years more products were developed, such as condensers, valves, oil coolers, fuel oil heaters, etc.

Mr. Schutte designed the first high pressure valves, 250 lbs., built in the United States, according to Mr. Fischer. In 1892, the factory was moved to its present site at 12th and Thompson sts., Phila., and in 1903 was incorporated under the name of Schutte & Koerting, Inc.

Trio Hurt As Auto Is Overturned Several Times

Three persons were injured in a collision of a private car and a truck at the intersection of Route 13 and Route 413 (near Bristol Cemetery), Saturday afternoon. The trio, treated at Harriman Hospital, follows:

William Parr, Andalusia, driver of passenger car, abrasion of right shoulder and head.

According to hospital records, Parr was driving a car west on Route 13, when it was involved in a collision with a truck owned by Peter Cattani, Farragut avenue, entering Route 13 from Route 413.

The Parr machine is said to have overturned several times. All three of those hurt were in the Parr machine.

WM. B. SHELLINGER, NORTH WALES, IS NAMED SUPT OF BENSELEM TWP. SCHOOLS

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, May 29—William B. Shellinger, of North Wales, has been named by Bensalem township board of school directors, as superintendent of Bensalem township schools. He succeeds A. Kurtz King, who recently resigned to accept a similar post at Deep River, Conn.

Mr. Shellinger, who will assume his post on July 3rd, has been elected for a four year term. He has been, since 1946, supervising principal of North Wales high school, Montgomery county.

The new appointee is married and has two daughters. He is 36 years of age.

Mr. Shellinger studied at Hollidaysburg high school; received his B. S. degree at Shippensburg State Teachers College in 1935; his master's degree at Pennsylvania State College in 1942; and is at present a candidate for doctor of education at the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

From 1935 until 1942 he taught social studies and was director of

THREE VETERANS POSTS JOIN FORCES TO PAY TRIBUTE TO THOSE WHO GAVE ALL FOR THEIR COUNTRY; CEREMONY AT TULLYTOWN

(By Staff Reporter)

TULLYTOWN, May 29—Representatives of three veterans' posts joined forces yesterday afternoon to take part in memorial services here.

Members of Joseph A. Schumacher Post, Croydon, and Chester W. Terchon Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, together with Robert W. Bracken Post, No. 382, American Legion, participated in a parade down Main street and in ceremonies at Tullytown Cemetery. Included in the line of more than 200 marchers were the junior and senior drum and bugle corps of the Bracken Post, the junior corps of the Terchon Post, and nearly 75 pupils of Tullytown school.

The parade began at two p. m. at the Tullytown memorial plaque. At the cemetery the Legion Post held flag-raising services in honor of late Post Commander Jonathan Miller, who is buried there. He served as head of the Bracken Post in 1938. The services were by Walter Strouse, burgess of Tullytown, and Raymond Kablinski, current post commander.

Jacob C. Schmidt, Jr., former post commander, introduced the Rev. Harold Koch, pastor of the Bristol Methodist Church. The Rev. Koch, who spent more than two and one-half years overseas as a captain in the U. S. Army, compared the Memorial Days of former years when soldiers' graves were decorated only in this country, to today, when services are held at American cemeteries throughout the world.

The clergyman, who served as a chaplain during the war, recalled how he had slept in fields of poppies, and told of the suffering at Anglo and Cassino. He mentioned the white crosses which had "mushroomed" in many places overseas, and how many of those boys had been brought home to rest, reminded of their great sacrifice for all. "We pray that our land will be a land of peace; I trust that we will all serve God." He added that "The world can never forget what these men did. Only when we win men to God can we win peace."

First and second grade pupils taught by Miss Margaret Faughnan presented a series of recitations as part of the program. Included were "Memorial Day," by Douglas Kaiser; "Our Memories," by Alice Keeler and Karen Walterick; "The White Flowers," by Harriet Trimble, Benjamin Piroli, Violet Gibson, Donald Schaffer, Marie Parto and Joanne Conca; "My Flag," by Harold Swangler; "Our Heroes," by Anthony Baruzzo and Raymond Cola; "When We Grow Up," by Carol Carlen and Richard Foraker; "Old Glory," by Roseann Grady, Warren Solt and Joan Book; and "On Memorial Day," by Carol Rappo, Loretta Martino and Catherine DiCicco.

Miss Elsie Ettinger's third and fourth grade pupils who took part were: Raymond Gibson, reciting "Memorial Flowers," Arthur Shaffer, "Remembering Day," Charlotte Stake and Joan Forestal, "Memorial Day," Lois Robinson, "Flags for Memorial Day," and Judith Heidrick, "Strewing Flowers."

Included among the fifth and sixth grade participants were: Charlotte Baker and Barbara Forestal with "Memorial Day," John Pozzallo, Michael Piroli and Humbert Durante reciting "Salute to Memorial Day."

GERALD SLAGER AND GEORGINE KLINE WED

Couple Spending Four Days
In The Pocono
Mountains

A young Bristol woman and a Tullytown man, who were wed on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock are spending four days in the Pocono mountains. The Rev. Paul Baird united in marriage Miss Georgine E. Kline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Kline, 701 Spruce street, and Mr. Gerald E. Slager, son of Mrs. Kathryn Slager, Tullytown. Mr. Kline escorted his daughter to the altar of St. Mark's R. C. Church where she took her vows.

Her white marquisette gown, over a satin slip, was entrain; it having an illusion neckline, and being trimmed with Chantilly lace. The veil was fingertip in length, this being of net and enhanced with Chantilly lace. It was attached to a seed pearl tiara. The bride carried a cascade of white roses.

Mrs. John Barnett, Spruce street, was matron of honor for her sister. She looked attractive in a gown of aqua marquisette, trim being of Belgian lace. Her picture hat was of aqua; she wore long, detachable sleeves, and silver slippers. The matron of honor carried a cascade of pink roses.

Serving Mr. Slager as best man was Mr. Slager's brother, Mr. George P. Slager, Spruce street.

WERE YOU COUNTED BY CENSUS ENUMERATOR?

If Not, Cut Out Form, Fill
In, and Mail As Directed

There apparently is some doubt among those in charge of the Federal Census Bureau, as to whether the enumerators were successful in contacting every resident in the Bristol area. The aid of The Courier has been solicited in an endeavor to get a list of those who for any reason whatever were missed or overlooked by the enumerators, or who were not at home when the enumerators called.

The Courier has been asked to publish a form which will be found elsewhere in this issue, and upon which the residents can write answers to the questions asked, and mail to the "District Supervisor, U. S. Bureau of the Census, Room 202, Post Office Building, Allentown, Pa."

Every resident in the area is urged to co-operate so that Bristol and the surrounding district will get full credit for their respective populations. Cut the form out of The Courier, fill it in, and mail as indicated.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan
(Distributed by International

The demand for light summer fiction doesn't seem to have speeded up any of those committee reports in Washington.

Sen. Tydings is now working on his report titled "If I Knew What Was Coming I'd Have Baked."

But we are all assured that there will be no whitewash of the Amerasia case... just like before.

Leslie Biddle, the President's buddy, is going out in a few weeks to find out how the country feels about things... The Democrats want to be sure the front end of a bus agrees with the rear platform of a train.

Mr. Biddle travels incognito... he simply says "I'm a Republican" and that's incognito enough for anybody.

He spends a month riding buses and talking with people Harry missed. But he missed so few, Biddle has to talk to some people twice to stay away a month.

Then he comes back and writes a three-word report "We Win Again"... and it will stand up until the day he's wrong.

MEMORIAL DAY

May 30 has been set aside to honor those who served in defense of their country. Originated following the Civil War, observance carried with it a prayer of thankfulness for peace, and the fervent hope that the American people would never again suffer from the cruelties of conflict.

Since that day this nation has been engaged in three wars, two of worldwide character. At the moment the threat of a fourth is bringing ill concealed fear.

It is fitting that those who died to preserve the nation be honored. But there must be firm resolve that the nation for which they fought and died shall be prepared to repel the new threat that confronts it. The nation which they fought to preserve and protect owes that, first of all, to their memory.

Tuesday the nation will acknowledge with fitting ceremonies its great debt to those who fought for it in the past. From this observance must spring renewed determination to protect, at whatever cost, the way of life which was preserved by the valorous deeds of these heroic dead.

WARMER AND WETTER

Maybe it's true what they say about those old-fashioned winters—that compared with the modern kind they were really rugged. Anyhow, one person who can speak with authority on such matters seems to think so. He is Ivan R. Tannehill, chief of reports and forecasts, U. S. Weather Bureau. Mr. Tannehill says the evidence indicates that the world is getting warmer has now mounted too high to be ignored. He also says careful studies must be made to find out exactly what is happening.

Researchers already seem to have a rough idea of what goes on. They believe the present trend has been persisting for a century and that the world has warmed up three or four degrees in that time. They have records that sound convincing—for example, the growing season in Iowa has been lengthened by 20 days in the last 40 years.

If that sounds like a fine thing for Iowa farmers, be informed this trend could bring unpleasant and disastrous consequences. Know what would happen if only the ice of Greenland, not to mention the polar ice caps, were to melt away? Countries like Holland and cities like Washington and the world's ports would be 100 feet under water. Rising seas, according to one prediction, would cover "half the world's wealth."

That's nothing to contemplate with complacency. But don't move to higher ground just yet. The same prophet estimated that half the ice Greenland once had has melted since the last Ice Age—and that it will be 15,000 years before the other half melts, provided the climate keeps getting warmer.

But though the warmer weather keeps up, a human race that must survive the advent of bubble gum, television, and the atomic bomb—all within a few decades—should be able to adjust itself to a better world in 15,000 years.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Dec. 26, 1901. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published at Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

A dredging company will come to Bristol today to raise the pile driver that sank in the river last week. A diver will descend and hook a chain on to the immense weight which toppled the sunken boat and when that is lifted it is expected the pile driver will right itself and come to the surface.

On Saturday the Standard Telephone Company's system at Hulmeville was connected with the line from Langhorne to Bristol.

George Jarvis, who left Baltimore and sailed around Cape Horn on a government transport, is home for the holidays.

Alfred Marshall, of Langhorne, has been elected a director of the People's National Bank to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John Johnson.

The new county bridge at Tullytown is about completed. The structure was thrown open to travel on Friday. The approaches to the bridge have been raised at a cost of about $500.

James D. Scott, the veteran map and directory publisher, is at work on a new atlas of Bucks County, which he hopes to have ready sometime in 1902. It is now more than 11 years since an atlas of this county was issued.

Charles E. and Frank Frederick, living below Wycombe, are about to enter upon a novel enterprise. They have purchased wire netting to enclose about 1½ acres of land for the establishment of a skunk farm.

Elisha C. Prall, of Hulmeville, has been elected treasurer of the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company for the unexpired term of John Johnson, deceased. Four members of the board of directors of this company have died during the present year: Edmund G. Harrison, Dr. Charles R. King, Jesse H. Knight and John Johnson.

F. L. O'Brien, of Tullytown, one of the proprietors of the rubber web works in that place, recently met a number of local capitalists at the offices of E. S. Hutchinson, with the idea of interesting Newtown people in the establishment of a similar industry there.

The annual meeting, election of officers and banquet of the Bristol Lodge, No. 25, F. and A. M., was held last Saturday evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Stanford K. Runyan, worshipful master; Isaac Parsons, Jr., senior warden; James R. Larue, junior warden; William H. Watson, secretary; Harvey S. Rue, treasurer; Lemuel Vandegrift, representative to grand lodge; and Dr. E. J. Groom, Charles E. Scott, B. C. Foster, B. F. Gifferson and Lemuel Vandegrift, trustees.

NEWPORTVILLE—The Neshaunty Creek was very high on Sunday with the promise of it still rising, but the largest fresh we ever had in this town was on July 17, 1865. The old covered bridge was swept away and the Neshaunty Creek was a raging torrent. Thousands of dollars worth of damages was done by this flood to crops, fences, timber and buildings, many of which were swept away. The old covered bridge was found after the water had subsided on the Jersey shore near Beverly.

FALLSINGTON—The Fallsington Horse Company held its annual banquet and election of officers in library hall on Saturday. The following officers were elected: Joseph Brown, president; Henry W. Comfort, treasurer; Dr. J. N. Richards, secretary; directors, David Satterthwaite, Sr., Charles Carver, M. Watson Moon, David Satterthwaite, Jr., Charles H. Ashton and James T. Watson. The company has 160 members.

At the meeting of the Bristol Division, No. 107, Sons of Temperance, tomorrow evening, the following officers will be installed to serve for the ensuing six months: F.W.P., Margaret Smiley; W.P., Maggie Howe; W.A., Mary E. Warden; F.S., Thomas S. Harper; R.S., Herbert A. Pettit; treasurer, William A. Mohr; assistant R.S., John Hardy; chaplain, Nellie Phillips; conductor, John Smiley; A. Cond., John Smoyer; I.S., Roy Smiley; O.S., Justus Clark; organist, Florence Stradling; trustee, Justus Clark.

KNOW YOUR STATE

Prepared for the Courier by the State Planning Board, Department of Commerce.

The celebration of Memorial Day as a national tribute to our soldier dead began in Pennsylvania, although the custom of decorating graves is a very old one in America and is still followed in remote sections of the Southern mountains under the quaint name of "applying the blossoms."

It was in October 1864, that a group of women in the village of Boalsburg, near State College, met in a local cemetery to decorate with autumn flowers the graves of neighborhood boys who had been killed in the War between the States and in the War of 1812. For the following two years this ceremony was repeated on Independence Day. On May 5, 1868, General John Logan, Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, named the 30th of May as the day for strewing flowers on the graves of our fallen soldiers. By 1910 all but a few Southern States, which celebrate a Confederate Memorial Day in the spring of the year, had accepted the 30th of May as a day for honoring the memory of the young men who died to insure the independence and the unity of our nation.

Although there are few now alive who can experience personal grief for the heroes of the Civil War, the gratitude of our whole nation, North and South, is still keen for their service in testing and in establishing the strength of our national Union. The dead of the Spanish-American War and of the First and Second World War have added to our debt of gratitude, a debt which can only be repaid through the happiness of our people and the success of our national life.

It is easy to forget, in a holiday which occurs in the very heart of spring, the grief and devotion with which this day was set aside, now more than eighty years ago. Perhaps, it is proper that we enjoy the day to the full as a symbol of the very large gift bequeathed us by the past, but we shall celebrate it very ill if we add to the toll of those who died to defend us, the needless death of one man, woman or child on the public highways.

Powder for Your Coloring

Movie Star Nancy Gates knows the correct shade of powder is important. She blends her own.

By HELEN FOLLETT

ATTENDANTS at cosmetic bars say that it is easy enough to find shades of powder that match the skins of brunettes, but getting delicate tones that flatter the blonde lassies is no simple matter. Strangely enough, nearly always a little violet powder is added to the blend because a fair skin usually has a luminous, semi-transparent appearance. There is a variety of coloring in the complexion of honey-haired girls. There are light, medium and dark blondes, even some that are betwixt-and-between and, though cosmetic chemists offer dozens of shades of powder, there may not be the right one for the beauty seeker. Hence the advantage of having one compounded or blended of different tints.

Delicate Skins

The light-headed contingent can have their delicate skins enhanced when the happy choice is applied, while the wrong selection will make them look ordinary, certainly not distinguished, or entitled to stand in the front ranks of the good-looks chorus.

They are likely, if left to their own devices, to select a flesh-colored powder which may be all right in some cases. But, the majority would do better to use a powder with a golden cast. Some find orchid shades flattering; that is particularly true when the hair is a dark golden, the eyes hazel.

Always, no matter what the type, a light shade of rouge should be used and the lipstick should be only slightly darker. The mouth veneer should usually be a cherry red with a slight golden cast. The redhead will love that tint, as it will not take away any of the glory of her flaming thatch.

The dark blonde whose skin is more dusky than milky is entitled to lay on more batik than the fair, true blonde with blue eyes and pale skin. The right shade of powder will make her skin look creamy and her eyes darker than they really are.

SAN CLEMENTE, Cal.—(INS)—Robert Bihn of San Clemente claims that he has landed the biggest bass ever fished from the sea. Bihn caught his 75-pound, 4-ounce bass from a private boat four miles off the coastal city. The official world mark for bass is possessed by W. M. Martness of Playa Del Rey, 74 pounds, 4 ounces.

was Mr. Philip DiNatale, of Tullytown.

As Miss Lucille Kline, sister of the bride, sang "The Rosary," "I Love You Truly" and "Because," Miss Katherine Keating accompanied her on the organ.

Guests gathered in Tullytown Fire Co. station for the reception. Mr. and Mrs. Slager plan to make their home in that community. The bridegroom served with an army unit in Europe during the last war. To the best man he presented a wallet.

Mrs. Slager who travelled in a flamingo toned suit, navy blue accessories, with lavender orchid, gave her matron of honor a maracas memento.

Costume of Mrs. Kline, mother of the bride, was a black dress and pink accessories. Mrs. Slager, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a dress of navy blue tone, with pink accessories. Each wore a corsage of pink rose-buds.

At the "Y"

Paragraphs of interest to those interested in the Bristol Young Men's Christian Association.

Schedule: Week of May 29
Monday—
"Y" open to all members from 6-9 p. m.

Tuesday—
Due to the Memorial Day holiday, the YMCA will be closed this day.

Wednesday—
The newly organized YMCA Youth Baseball League will meet at 7:45 p. m. There are at present seven teams in this league, they being: Second Ward, Third Ward, Fourth Ward, Harriman, Celtics, Jefferson A. C., and Cornwells A. C. This league is composed of 15-16-year-old boys from the Bristol area. The league is expected to begin play the first week of June and it is expected that their games will be played in the evening. New teams will be admitted into the league but they should contact "Y" Director Frank J. Fuoco or be present at this meeting. The managers met at the "Y" last week and have adopted the following rules: A 20-man maximum playing roster, allow boys under 15 to play, but that these boys will be ineligible for the other YMCA leagues, and umpires will be selected from neutral teams to officiate scheduled games. Other rules will be discussed at the next meeting. The managers are reminded to bring their rosters to this meeting.

Friday—
The younger boys-girls night at the "Y". Dancing will be enjoyed from 6-9 p. m. Each Friday evening approximately 100 boys-girls 9-13 years of age have been attending the dances and the affair may be continued until the warmer weather arrives.

The YMCA announces that the midgeet baseball league for boys 9-11 years old, the junior baseball league for boys 12-14 years old, and the girls softball league may not be organized this year. These 3 leagues were also scheduled to begin play the first week of June, but due to recent changes in the YMCA program they will not begin before June 19th in the event that it is decided to organize them for this summer. Further action concerning their organization will be announced at a later date.

partment of Public Instruction to proceed with plans to enlarge the grade school in Solebury.

Overcrowded conditions at the school have created many problems, and because of the large enrollment most of the children are housed in buildings near the school.

Although the state authorities have directed the directors to proceed with plans for a seven-room addition, the cost of which has not as yet been determined, it is expected the taxpayers will have to give their approval of a bond issue. With the building of the addition, it will be possible to house all of the children.

Leftover Meat Problem? Here Are Sauce Ideas

Food styling! That's one role of the homemaker. In her creative field she has the facilities of innumerable sauces to turn leftover meat into attractive servings, says home economist Reba Staggs.

For example, leftover beef becomes all the more special served with a tangy horseradish sauce. The sauce is simply made by adding 4 to 8 tablespoons of horseradish (depending upon the family's taste) to a medium cream sauce.

Canned mushrooms may be added to cream sauce as another choice for beef or veal. Perhaps some may prefer thin slices of cooked veal or chunks of cooked beef in a zesty paprika sauce made by sea-

Preparing Child for School

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

MOST parents know of the many services rendered to their children by the P.T.A.

One of the P.T.A. services is the summer round-up program, designed to induce parents of children who will enter school next fall to see that these children shall be as nearly fit physically as possible.

Often, too, the parent's attention may be called by the examining physician to other physical needs of the child. Moreover, as the young mothers assemble at the school they learn from the principal, school psychologist and teachers of good ways to prepare the child socially and emotionally for beginning school.

For the latter purpose, a great many school principals have used my bulletin, "Parents Can Help Child Succeed at School." Many have written for permission to reprint this bulletin and distribute it without profit among the parents. Always I'm glad to grant this permission.

Let me strongly urge parents to have children's medical or dental work done right away before the heat of summer begins.

What To Do

Here are some things young mothers should emphasize between now and next September. Aim to build up in the child a very hopeful and wholesome attitude that school will be a happy experience.

Cultivate good routine habits in the child, as in eating, sleeping and elimination. Continue the afternoon nap and rather regular bedtime hours.

Provide this child with a serene and happy family atmosphere—quiet voices, regulated radio; understanding, companionship and affection.

See that he learns to respect the rights and possessions of other persons and feels due regard for constituted authority.

Cultivate in him self-care and self-reliance. Don't do for him what he can easily do for himself. Help him learn to feel comfortable out of your sight and hearing and to be gradually weaned emotionally from you. Try hard to help him spend sufficient time at fun with other children of his age, learning to settle his own quarrels and fight his own battles.

Read some to him every day and encourage him at creative fun with crayons, pencil, clay, paper and simple tools. (My bulletin, "Letting Little Children Learn" may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper). But don't worry him with book learning. Let him grow up. And don't try to pull strings to win his admittance to school next fall under the official age limit. Far more children enter school too early than the number who enter too late.

All the more reason for planning leftovers is the famous barbecue sauce which has long had a special position with pork. For the perfect mingling of flavors a hint of Worcestershire and tobacco sauce should be listed in the ingredients. Leg of lamb or rolled lamb shoulder leftovers may be colorfully served with a pimiento olive sauce.

Many a sauce connoisseur agrees that a Creole combination ranks high whether it be served with cooked beef, veal, pork or lamb.

For perfection in a Creole sauce grated onion, melted garlic, chopped parsley, thinly sliced mushrooms and minced green pepper are heated in meat drippings until slightly browned. A small amount of flour is added to thicken. Tomato juice is poured over the mixture, then seasoned with sugar, salt, cloves and a bit of chili powder.

Here's Method For Perfect Braised Steak

Slow cooking in a tightly covered utensil. That is the secret of a perfect braised steak, says Reba Staggs, well known meat cookery expert.

Following the approved method, a beef steak—flank, arm, blade or round—is first pounded or scored. The meat is then dredged in seasoned flour and browned in hot lard or drippings. Here is where slow cooking begins. It has been found that a slow browning stays on the meat much better than a quick browning.

With the steak thoroughly browned, a small amount of liquid is added—about 1/4 cup. More liquid may be added, a little at a time, as needed. The meat is then tightly covered. The reason for the tight fitting cover? It keeps the moisture inside the pan to help produce a juicy and tender braised steak.

From the time the liquid is added until the meat is cooked, the temperature must be low enough so the liquid will simmer, not boil. This is important to the homemaker from both an economic and flavor standpoint. When cooked at a low temperature there is less meat shrinkage, meaning more steak to serve. When cooked at a low temperature the steak is more flavorful, and more attractive to serve.

Croydon Wedding is Followed By A Reception in Bristol

CROYDON, May 29 — The St. Luke's Lutheran Church was the scene of a spring wedding when at the hour of four on Saturday, Miss Catherine Aufschlag became the bride of Mr. Walter W. Schrenk, Jr. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Aufschlag, Oak avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schrenk, Girard avenue. The bride was given in marriage by her father in the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Edward Kolbe, pastor of the church. Two white bouquets adorned the altar. Mr. Cornfeldt presided at the organ and accompanied Mrs. Dora Borgard, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride chose as her maid of honor Miss Florence Ruch, Philadelphia. Miss Ruch was attractive in a yellow nylon gown, fashioned with a taffeta underskirt. Her illusion neckline formed cap sleeves. The skirt was full gathered. She wore a small picture hat with matching satin bow in back. She carried a spring bouquet of mixed pastel flowers. Miss Henrietta Schrenk, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid; Miss Frances Aufschlag, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. Their gowns were identical in design to that of the maid of honor, Miss Schrenk wearing blue and green and Miss Aufschlag wearing pink. They, too, carried bouquets of mixed spring flowers.

Mr. George Solt, Schwenksville, served as best man. Ushers were Mr. August Arnold, Jr., and Mr. Martin Brown.

The bridal gown was of white satin. It featured a lace filled illusion neckline. Two lace ruffles ran down the back from the waistline and extended the full length of the train. The waist was form-fitting and sleeves were long and pointed. The skirt was full gathered. A lace fingertip veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls. She wore white ankle strap pumps and carried an arm spray of white roses.

The mother of the bride chose a street dress of navy blue and wore white accessories. Mrs. Schrenk, mother of the bridegroom, wore a street dress of navy blue with pink trim and wore blue accessories with pink trim. Both wore corsages of deep pink roses. A reception was held in Odd Fellows Hall, Bristol. Approximately 150 guests attended. The couple will reside in an apartment on Radcliffe street, Bristol. Mr. Schrenk is employed by Rohm & Haas Co.

Methodist Churches

Our Father, we thank Thee that Thou hast not left Thyself without witness. The heavens declare Thy glory, and the earth Thy handiwork; but Thou hast Thy personal representative in the world, through all time, manifesting Thy power.

The Holy Ghost, who came on the day of Pentecost, transforming the band of beaten, fearful disciples, into rejoicing, courageous heralds of the Cross. As this week we think specifically of that event, grant again, we pray Thee, the outpouring of Thy Spirit upon the church. In Jesus Name we pray. Amen.

Joseph Warsheski, Mrs. Mary Weiss, Bristol; Mrs. Edmund Groom, West Bristol; Mrs. Lester Williams, Bristol Heights; and Mrs. Crawford Wilson, Trenton, N. J.

Mrs. Joseph Buck and daughter Beverly, Trenton avenue, spent Wednesday with Mrs. Buck's grandmother, Mrs. Amanda Rickner, Phila. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rickner, Phila., returned to Bristol with Mrs. Buck and remained for a few days visit.

Miss Patricia Flannery, Philadelphia, has been a guest for the past week of Miss Diane Dugan, Pine street.

Initiation ceremony was conducted Thursday evening when Bristol Assembly, Order of Rainbow Girls, met in Bristol Methodist Church with Alice Nemec presiding. Nancy Lee Almond was the new member accepted. Plans were made for a "birthday" dinner to be held June 8th in the church, followed by public installation at eight o'clock.

Miss Alice Burns, East Circle, returned home Thursday, concluding a weeks stay at Pittsburgh where she attended the state convention of Catholic Daughters of America. Miss Burns is grand regent of Court Bristol, No. 1097. During her stay in Pittsburgh she was a visitor of Mrs. Martin J. Walsh.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mershon, Sr., Otter street, spent a day visiting relatives at Bordentown, N. J.

Mrs. John Hoffman, Hightstown, N. J., Mrs. Florence Richardson, Trenton, N. J., and Mrs. Taylor, Bristol, were guests on Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. John Bruden and Miss Mary Heisel, Swain street.

Dr. and Mrs. Francis Bellarmino, Phila., Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fancett, Georgetown, Del., were Thursday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Boyd, Taft street.

A desert card party, for benefit of St. James P. E. Church choir, was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Phipps, Croydon, on Thursday afternoon. Six tables of players were arranged. High scores were listed by: Mrs. Mary Sharp, 792; Walter Cooper, 751; Mrs. Michael Choma, 745; Mrs. Phipps, 734; Mrs. Mary White, 731. Fancy dish towels, door prizes, were awarded to Mrs. William Borchers.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Ficht and children Garry, Thomas and Janet, of Farragut avenue, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. John R. McGrath and family, Collingswood, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Sokols, Eddystone, spent a recent day with Mrs. Teofil Ostrowski, Bath road.

Mrs. William Vetter, Bath Addition, entertained members of her card club on Wednesday evening. Prizes were given to Mrs. Carl Votter.

KORNICHUCK WINS THIRD GAME FOR BRISTOL FIREMEN

"Eddie" Kornichuck won his third straight mound victory for the Fire Company, No. 1, softball team yesterday as he bested "Chick" Stansky in the best hurling duel of the season. The firemen beat Second Ward, 2-1, to move into second place in the Bristol Softball League.

Kornichuck and Stansky both allowed but one hit but the fire-eaters' twirler was more settled as he was more effective in the pinches. The only safe blow made off Kornichuck's pitching was a bunt along the third base line which "Mike" Perrone beat out. Allan Hibbs made a bad throw to first after the runner crossed. The bingle off Stansky was a clean hit to left by Alex Dixon which drove in the winning run. Stansky did not allow a hit or run after the first.

After Nate Chichiletti walked and eventually scored in the second only eighteen batters faced Kornichuck. Gene Barbetta drawing a pass in the final inning.

Stansky retired 14 batters in order following Dixon's hit. After Seifert broke the spell with a free ticket, Stansky put out the next four batters.

The fire-fighters scored in the first when Caputa and Harvey Cochran walked. They advanced on a passed ball and Caputa scored on a wild pitch. Cochran crossed on Dixon's safe blow.

Chichiletti's walk, a stolen base, an infield out and a sacrifice by "Lou" Pezzullo scored Second Ward's marker in the second.

Voltz-Texaco scored all its runs in the first two innings yesterday as it scored an 8-1 win over Rhawnhurst A. C. in a Tri-County League game on Memorial Park field.

The gammen scored six runs in the first inning and two more in the second but after that were helpless. It was a youngster by the name of "Bill" Correy who went in the box in the third inning to subdue the Voltz-men. He struck out ten and walked four.

Earl Wagner did the mound work of the Bristol team and chalked up his second mound triumph of the circuit. He permitted but four scattered hits. Two of these blows were made by Correy.

Of the five hits made by the winners, four, including a double by John Walker came in the first and mixed with a walk and error accounted for six runs.

Tomorrow evening at six o'clock on Memorial field, Voltz will play Siles.

FRIENDS OF BOYS
In memory of Christian Schmidt, shown in painting, the Philadelphia company he founded 90 years ago, C. Schmidt & Sons, Inc., has established a series of 4-year scholarships, each valued at $2,000, to be awarded each year to five deserving young men of the Police Athletic League of Philadelphia. Announcement of the scholarships was made at the Police Athletic League Boxing Bouts at The Arena, May 26. Left to right: Judge Vincent A. Carroll, chairman of the PAL Board; Christian H. Zoller, President of the Schmidt Company and grandson of its founder; Guy E. Parsons, President of PAL and Assistant Superintendent of Police; and Tommy Loughran, former world's light-heavyweight champion and master-of-ceremonies for the telecast of the PAL boxing bouts on Friday nights under the sponsorship of the Schmidt organization.

RECIPES
Dagwood Hamburgers
1 pound ground beef
4 large buns
Salt and pepper
4 1/4 inch slices Bermuda onion
4 1/2-inch thick slices tomato
Lettuce
1/4 cup mayonnaise
8 large stuffed olives, sliced
Form beef into 4 individual cakes.
Pan fry or broil. Split and toast buns, or use without toasting if desired. Place beef on bun; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Top with onion, tomato, lettuce, mayonnaise and sliced olive. Place top on bun.
